NEGOTIATIONS ON SHANTUNG NEARING END; TREATY SOON

Japanese Will Quit Port Of Tsingtao Dec. 2 In Any Event

SHARE IN MINES

Joint Working Of Many Utilities Agreed To By China

(Special to The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 23.—It is announced that the Sino-Japanese Shantung Commission has reached a tentative agreement of the major points at issue and a treaty is now being drafted which both sides hope will be adopted prior to December 2.

Failure to settle all the points in controversy will not change the Japanese determination to leave Tsingtao, they announce, and the treaty will be signed later.

Director C. T. Wang of the Shantung Commission will leave for Tsingtao November 30, with his entire staff. He declares he will take charge of the government temporarily, a successor probably being named in about six weeks.

A special commission already is organising a police force of 1,500.

Chinese and Japanese will operate most public enterprises jointly, these including the salt fields and mines. The Japanese retain seven large parcels of land for their institutions.

The Chinese will assume a debt of approximately Yen 40,000,000 which includes the cost of return of the Shantung Railway, for which sum the Japanese will accept Chinese treasury notes.

AGREE ON MANY POINTS

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 22.—The First Section of the Sino-Japanese Joint Commission held its 41st meeting today.

(1) The commissioners of both countries agreed that the Tsingtao Hospital be reserved by Japan, while the Fusai Hospital, and its branch hospital on Shinmachi Street, as well as the Second Primary School, be handed to China.

(2) With the exception of the question of the wireless telegraph between Tsingtao and Dairen, the commissioners of both countries agreed to the proposal tendered by the Chinese for the settlement of the question relating to the telegraph and telephone offices and the wireless stations.

(3) The Chinese commissioners presented a table of assessed values of the property belonging to the postal and telegraph offices along the Shantung Railway.

(4) The commissioners of both countries agreed to the final proposal made by the Japanese for the solution of the question concerning vessels, belonging to the wharves of Tsingtao.

(5) The Japanese commissioners presented a counter-proposal regarding the disposal of the submarine cable between Tsingtao and Sasebo.

(6) The Japanese commissioners explained and handed to the Chinese the reply to the table of valuation of the salt industry.

(7) The Japanese commissioners presented their written reply concerning the disposal of the property along the Shantung Railway.

NEW PROPOSALS MADE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 20.—The thirty-seventh meeting of the First Section of the Sino-Japanese Joint Commission met at the Waichiaopu this morning at 10 o'clock. The following questions were brought up:

(1) The Japanese Commissioners brought up new proposals concerning the following questions:

(a) Reply to the Chinese valuation of public properties.

(b) Disposition of wharves and warehouses, together with public properties.

(c) Tsingtao Hospital and Second Primary School.

(d) Public properties at Tsinanfu and along the Railway.

(e) Export of salt.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

BY J. L. BUTTS

The portly and prosperous looking party waddling down the street ahead of Chung Kungxian paused suddenly and burst into a succession of sneezes which agitated his plump person immensely. He shook himself together, turned the corner and disappeared—and then Chung noticed that the violence of his seizure had caused the worthy burgher's wallet to shake itself out of his pocket to the pavement.

"Here's where I give this poor old asthmatic duffer a pleasant shock," thought Chung, and stepped briskly forward to retrieve the fallen property for its owner. Before he could reach the spot a figure shot out of an alleyway, scooped the pocketbook off the sidewalk and stood turning it over curiously. As Chung came up the newcomer registered embarrassed surprise, then smiled nervously and continued hefting the shining leather purse. The purse, like its owner, was plump and prosperous looking. The stranger called Chung's attention to this fact. He regarded Chung with a speculative eye, meanwhile gently shaking the wallet, from which issued a faint musical chinking.

"What had they better do about it?" he inquired of Chung. Chung said he thought they ought to return it. But the man had disappeared, said the stranger. Chung looked round the corner and saw that this was even so. But probably the loser, discovering his loss, would be back soon, he suggested.

The stranger regarded this as doubtful. Then he became confidential. He took Chung aside and coyly suggested that they divide the contents of their find. Of course, he had been the actual finder, but then Chung had been such a close second that it was only fair he should share. Chung's conscience refused to be brought into line with the proposal.

Well then, suggested the persistent stranger, the only thing to do was to hold the wallet until the loser advertised for it. For the recovery of so fat a purse there would doubtless be a gratifying reward offered. He opened the leathern case just a wee bit and Chung had a brief vision of many bank notes and something which glittered insinuatingly. Yes, obviously, there would be a tidy reward offered. Very well then, the stranger would turn the whole thing over to Chung, and when the bounty was collected they would split it two ways. Of course, said the stranger apologetically, he trusted implicitly in Chung's honor, but then—just to make it businesslike—some pledge now, say about $2?

This seemed fair enough to Chung and he dug two silver dollars out of his pocket and took charge of the pocketbook. The unknown bade him a courteous good-bye and said he must be going and Chung stepped over to his shop, which was nearby, and opened the wallet to take inventory. Inside he found a sheaf of neatly cut blank paper, just the size of bank notes, and an interesting collection of shining iron washers.

Chung's wail of astonishment brought his two apprentices scrambling out of the rear of the shop. Rapidly and picturesquely he told of his victimisation by this ancient dodge and so vividly did he describe his deceiver that the two apprentices, dashing down the street and through several likely looking alleyways, bagged the smooth stranger before he had gone two hundred yards.

Thus Chung got his two dollars back and Lieu Auh-voong, the obliging unknown, got eighteen months, after refusing to disclose the name of the portly

Clemenceau Gives Warning To America Of German Preparation For New War

Turk Rapprochement With Russia Declared To Be Most Ominous War Cloud In European Sky—"Tiger's" Life Threatened

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 23.—M. Clemenceau's police escort has been doubled owing to his having received a letter threatening his life signed "A Veteran of the Great War."

New York, Nov. 22.—M. Clemenceau received an ovation at the Metropolitan Opera House today when he delivered the first speech of his tour. The House was crowded to its limits and thousands were excluded.

The French ex-Premier declared that Germany was already preparing for another war. He referred to the Turco-Russian rapprochement as an ominous warcloud and urged the United States to renew her conversations with France and Great Britain in order, without definitely committing the United States to any set program, to present to Germany a picture of three unpleasant folk who faced her in the World War.

In conclusion, M. Clemenceau expressed the hope that America would join France and Britain in imposing the Versailles Treaty on Germany.

ONLY TO EXPLAIN

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 22.—M. Clemenceau, speaking before an audience of 5,000 at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, said:

"I do not come to ask you for money but I want to explain to you our situation. How could France without money, having lost so many men and who must repair the devastations of her territory, think of fighting to dominate Europe, whose independence she has procured. We have received a promise of reparations with the signature of America. If confidence grows again in Europe, you will be paid for we shall have the means to do so. No sacrifice is asked of you except the assurance that you are willing to keep amongst the nations the great place which you have twice held there."

Several passages in M. Clemenceau's speech, especially those in which he spoke energetically on Germany, were vigorously applauded. The ex-Premier was warmly congratulated by members of the Foreign Affairs Committee and after his speech received a long ovation from the audience.

JOURNALISTS HERE JOIN WITH OTHERS TO HONOR NOYES

Busy Program Scheduled For Head Of A.P., Arriving Tomorrow Night

A crowded program of entertainments are being planned for Mr. Frank B. Noyes, head of the Associated Press, who is expected to arrive in Shanghai by train tomorrow night at 10 o'clock. Mr. Noyes has been visiting in Peking where he was extensively entertained by the government and his fellow craftsmen.

The first formal entertainment will be the dinner to be given by the Shanghai Journalists' Club on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Yih Ping Shang Hotel. Invitations were sent to members of the staff of foreign newspapers and of the club.

Monday night, he will be guest of honor at a dinner given by Reuter's News Agency, to which a large number of Chinese journalists have been invited. Tuesday at tiffin, the Shun Pao will be the host.

A tiffin will be given by the American University Club in conjunction with the American Chamber of Commerce at the Carlton Cafe on Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. in his honor.

The Association of Chinese Newspapers is also planning to give Mr. Noyes a reception.

At a tea last week given by the International Press Club in Peking, Mr. Noyes addressed the gathering on the value of an absolutely independent press, which elicited a discussion in which both Chinese and foreign members present took part.

An interesting disclosure was made by Mr. B. Lenox-Simpson, who is an adviser to the Chinese Government. He said that a subsidised press was not held very high in the West, but in China it was a question of choosing between two evils.

At the moment the Chinese papers are not able to pay for themselves. Therefore, unless the Government granted them monetary aid, there would be no newspapers. Consequently he felt that some papers, no matter how biased they were in political views, were better in the long run for the country, than if the subsidy was cut off and the papers ceased to appear.

He explained that there was a draft now in the hands of the Government whereby all of the Chinese papers upon the presentation of a proper printer's statement, would receive one and a half cents for each paper printed. Settlement would be made monthly and in this way every paper without regard to its political standing would have its actual make up cost paid by the Government.

Ask Council To Move Rifle Range

Chinese residents in the vicinity of the Rifle Range have addressed a petition to the Shanghai Municipal Council to have the Range removed as a danger to residents in the vicinity, according to the Eastern Times.

It is said that a stray bullet killed a cow in the vicinity a few days ago and the residents are fearful that pedestrians and those living in the vicinity may be injured by deflected or stray shots.

INSTRUCTOR AT AMERICAN SCHOOL IS EXONERATED

Mr. Touche Freed By French Court Of Charges Brought Against Him

Richard Touche (Touche), Instructor in French at the American school was honorably acquitted in the French Mixed Court yesterday morning of a charge of misrepresentation of citizenship.

Mr. W. W. Bartlett, Principal of the American school, testified that Mr. Tosche had never to his knowledge stated that he was a French citizen, but had always proudly maintained his Lettish origin. Other witnesses in Mr. Tosche's behalf were the Rev. C. E. Spencer, Sub-Dean of Holy Trinity Cathedral; Mr. W. W. Lockwood, secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Mr. Vittoski, a Russian, an old friend of Mr. Tosche's, all of whom testified to the defendant's excellent character.

The decision handed down by Mr. Dufaure de la Prade, French Consul, and Magistrate Nieh Yong-ching reads in part:

"It is hereby noted that Mr. Tosche is and always has been a Lett.

"It is hereby noted that Mr. Tosche never stated that he was a French citizen to commit acts against public order, and on the contrary has always shown himself to be a true loyal friend of France and an enthusiastic disseminator of French propaganda.

"It is furthermore noted that the testimony of Mr. Gruminski, the owner of the boarding house where Mr. Tosche lives and who is reported to have said that Mr. Tosche told him that he was a French citizen be therefore stricken from the records as incompetent and irrelevant.

"Mr. Tosche is therefore acquitted."

Mr. Tosche was represented by Mr. E. Nouveau as counsel at yesterday morning's session in the French Mixed Court.

COLLEGE STUDENTS RESCUE TWENTY FROM DROWNING

Shanghai Baptist Faculty And Students Save Passengers From Sinking Launch

Twenty men were saved from drowning by the students and faculty of the Shanghai Baptist College on Yangtszepoo Road in a dramatic rescue on Wednesday night when a river launch, with nineteen Chinese and one Japanese aboard, sank in the Whangpoo opposite the school.

The faculty was at prayer meeting just before 8 o'clock when a student rushed in and interrupted the services with the information that shouts for help in Chinese were coming from the river.

Various attempts to secure a rescue party were made by the excited students and faculty members without success and as a last resort sampans were launched by the students and yuloed into the river searching for the sinking launch.

The students and faculty members worked from 8 o'clock until midnight searching the river, finally rescuing all on board.

Yesterday President White of the College received a check for $100 from the Japanese rescued, with his sincere thanks for their assistance. The money will be used to purchase a life-boat and launching device so that in the future Shanghai College students will have a well equipped life-saving station.

Christmas Money Story Contest For The Children

THE CHINA PRESS begs to announce that $100.00 in prizes will be given to school children of the city between the ages of 10 and 16 who write the best Christmas stories for this newspaper.

The stories will be published daily in THE CHINA PRESS and also in the forthcoming Christmas Number of the Sunday China Press, to be issued on December 10

Junior Children: 10, 11 and 12 years old.

Senior Children: 13, 14, 15 and 16 years old.

In the Junior class the stories must run from 500 to 1,000 words.

In the Senior class the stories must run from 700 to 1,500 words.

The prizes in each class will be the same.

First prize: $25.00.

Second prize: $15.00.

Third prize: $10.00.

All the stories must be in the office of THE CHINA PRESS by noon on Friday, December 8.

Contestants, therefore, are not given very much time and all intending to compete are urged to start early on their compositions.

The stories must be written on one side of the paper, must be in ink and must be legible. Typewriters may be used by the contestants.

The stories must have something to do with Christmas. The scene must be laid in China. Anecdotes are not wanted. This is a short story contest—a fiction contest. Each story must have characters and a plot.

In addition to the prizes offered, a total of $100.00, THE CHINA PRESS will pay $5.00 for each story used. Two prizes, one for $10.00 and one for $5.00 will also be given to the stories that are judged neatest.

WARNS TURK NOT TO HIT ALLIED ROCK, DANGEROUS!

General Harington Says Allies Patience Is Only Human

SOVIET TO COME

Chicherin To Head Russ Delegation At Lausanne

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—A serious warning to the Turks was uttered by General Sir Charles Harington, attending a Services' boxing tournament here today. He said that challenges had lately been made against their position as part or the Allied forces of occupation. There was a very real limit and it was perilous to come against the Allied rock which was marked dangerous. The Allies were a most conciliatory people and had been very patient. They were, however, human and those who were playing with fire would be well-advised to obey the referee and break away.

SOVIET TO COME

Lausanne, Nov. 23.—The Soviet delegation headed by M. Chicherin is expected to arrive at Lausanne shortly. It is understood that Russia will back up all the Turkish claims.

Prior to his departure Signor Mussolini expressed his satisfaction at the work of the Conference up to the present. He said that the Allies were going to Paris to discuss reparations before the Brussels Conference opened and that the Turks would have to be stopped if they disturbed the peace in the Balkans.

M. Stambuliski contended that Bulgaria must have an absolutely unrestricted outlet to the sea. It is understood that the British, French and Italian representatives unanimously rejected the proposal for the autonomy of Western Thrace.

NEARING MARTIAL LAW

Constantinople, Nov. 23.—A communique has been issued by the Turkish Commandant which is considered to be the thin edge of the wedge towards the proclamation of Turkish martial law, prohibits charitable collections without proper authority and the carrying of arms, the penalty being a court-martial.

DEFINES U. S. POSITION

Lausanne, Nov. 22.—During the conference yesterday afternoon, one of the United States's observers, Mr. Child, defined the position of the American delegates as that of representatives of the United States, who, in the plenary and other sessions, including those of the commissions and committees, were entitled to be present and to be heard equally with the other members.

The American delegates were not entitled to vote and were not obliged to take office or preside or otherwise become signatories of agreements or reports. The American Delegation, Mr. Child concluded would make one contribution to the Conference—its statements would be direct and brief.

TURKS REFUSE

The First Commission yesterday broached the difficult question of the capitulations. The Turks refused to negotiate respecting the capitulary privileges of third parties.

The Commission today discussed the Turkish European frontiers. Earl Curzon, who is Chairman of this Commission, requested Ismet Pasha to state exactly what Turkey wanted. Ismet Pasha claimed the frontiers of 1913 and a plebiscite in Western Thrace. M. Venizelos declared that Greece would only accept the frontiers of 1915, but opposed a plebiscite. Jugo-Slavia and Rumania urged the fixing of the frontier along the Maritza line with a demilitarised zone on both sides of it. Both opposed a plebiscite.

PASHA IS OUSTED

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—A secret sitting of the Angora Assembly today decided to replace Seiaheddin Adil Bey, Governor of Constantinople by Selahed Dinadi, Under-Secretary for Defence. This supercession is attributed to Rafet Pasha's over-conciliatoriness towards the Allies.

BULGAR IS ACTIVE

Lausanne, Nov. 22.—Although secrecy is observed with regard to this afternoon's deliberations of the First Commission it is learned that the Bulgarian delegate, M. Stambulinki, proposed autonomy in Western Thrace as the best means of securing a Bulgarian outlet to the Aegean Sea.

The Allies subsequently stated their views. The Turks will reply tomorrow. It is understood that the Allies have pronounced against the Turkish proposal for a plebiscite in Western Thrace, at which the Turks were visibly upset.

DEMOCRAT HEARS DEATH RATTLE IN G.O.P. THROAT

Garrett Opens Debate On The Ship Subsidy Bill With Strong Castigation

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 23.—At the opening of the debate on the Ship Subsidy Bill in the House of representatives Mr. Garrett, the Democratic leader, declared that the Republican Administration with its death rattle in its throat was running true to form by favoring special interests.

Mr. Mondell, the Republican leader, replying averred that the Republicans had been unable in 18 months to cure all the ills left by the late Democratic Administration.

Situation In American Cotton Section Is Worst In Forty Years

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 22.—The situation in the cotton industry in Lancashire is the worst it has been for the past 40 years, and there is little prospect of improvement. The section using American cotton is taking a ballot on the question of the introduction of a 24-hour working week.

Before the reduction in working could be put into operation, the result of the ballot must show a total of 80 percent of the members of the Master Cotton Spinners' Federation in favor of the curtailment.

Should the proposal be carried, the mills could either work on three days every week, or close down during every alternate week. A total of 129,000 operatives would be affected in the event of the proposal being carried.

DRIVE FOR GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT BEGINS TONIGHT

The second annual campaign for membership of the Good Roads Movement will be inaugurated at the Ningpo Association, Thibet Road this evening at 7 o'clock. Dr. P. W. Kuo, president of the movement, will preside and deliver his annual report.

Speeches will be made by Miss Chu Chien-shu, principal of the Ching Yih Normal School, West Gate; Mr. Wu San, general secretary of the movement; Miss King Wen-shu and Prof. Kiang Kan-hu, president of the Southern University, Gordon Road. A program of dancing and singing and instrumental music will be given by students the Ching Yih Normal School and the Tsing Sing Industrial School.

Memorial Services For Dr. Wu Ting-fang To Be Held Sunday

Memorial services for the late Dr. Wu Ting-fang will be held throughout the day Sunday, when it is expected that the Chinese statesman's many friends, Chinese and foreign, will avail themselves of the opportunity to pay a last tribute to his memory. The service will be held at Dr. Wu's home, 3 Gordon Road.

WHY POSTMASTERS GO GREY

"What with general withdrawal of the foreign postal agencies scheduled to take place at the end of next month one would think that the mail situation was facing sufficient difficulty without somebody coming along and trying to steal the site of the proposed new Chinese Post Office at Tiendong and North Szechuen Roads.

Such, however, is the disconcerting fact and yesterday 39 men—38 of them wheelbarrow coolies—occupied or overflowed from the prisoners' dock at the Mixed Court to answer for the dastardly attempt.

C. P. C. 606 said that, with considerable assistance, he took thirty-eight into custody shortly after midnight, while they were removing the post office grounds in large chunks. The coolies, questioned, named one Loo Li-hung as having engaged them to transport the lot to a spot about a mile outside the settlement. Mr. Marsh, representing the architects, testified that no excavation contract had been awarded, but that over $100 worth of earth had been removed nevertheless.

Loo stepped forward to declare that he really was under the impression that he had been given the job of taking away the mud, but Mr. Marsh stated that he wasn't even mentioned among the bidding possibilities and the Court lent its assistance toward correcting the misconception by fining Loo $50.

New Science Journal

The China Journal of Science and Arts edited by Arthur de C. Sowerby, F. R. G. S., is a new monthly magazine which will deal with all matters relating to scientific and artistic life in China. The first issue will be published in the near future and will contain the following articles:

"The Value of Biological Research," by Mr. Sowerby, "The Tarabagan or Siberian Marmot," Dr. Wu Lien Teh; "Chinese Landscapists," John C. Ferguson; "The Chinese Idea of a Garden," Mrs. F. Ayscough; "The Sing Song Girl, from a Throne of Glory to a seat of Ignominy," J. Em Lemiere; "Shantung Coleoptera," Arthur P. Jacot; "The Calorific Value of Coal," G. W. Himus, and "Fishing in China," A. M. Preston.

The journal has been made the official organ of the Shanghai Chemical Society.

"Smilin' Thru"

The Far East Players presented the Allan Martin play "Smilin' Thru" at the Olympic last night, and were encouraged by the presence of a comfortably filled house—the kind of a house that this excellent company deserves.

The play, a story of youthful love triumphant in the end over an old man's hatred of the lover of his ward because of a tragedy that the father of the young man had introduced into his own life, was beautifully acted.

The part of John Carteret, the old man, was finely acted by Herbert Light, and T. Daniel Frawley, in the part of Dr. Owen Harding, his life long friend, was at his best. Miss Blood, as the heroine, was bewitching.

"Smilin' Thru" is not the sort of a play to stir an audience to any great outbursts of enthusiasm. It is a play, rather, to keep the audience reaching for its collective handkerchief, and the Far East Players kept the Olympic audience doing just that thing through the greater part of last evening.

The Frawley company must have been encouraged by last night's fine patronage. At any rate they seemed to put all the life and feeling into their acting that the most meticulous could have desired. There was not a dull minute in the play, and hardly one in which someone in the audience was not sniffling, or mopping up the tears. If the success of a company may be judged by its ability to move an audience to tears, then the Frawley company last night was, literally, a scream.

But there were laughs along with the tears, and as for the acting it is difficult to see how it could have been improved upon. Bernard Nedell, as the lover, was as good in the part as the man who played it on Broadway two years ago, whoever he was.

In a word, if the Frawley company can maintain the standard they set last night in "Smilin' Thru" they will soon have all of Shanghai at their feet.

B.A.T. STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK; MANY STILL OUT

Employes Of Cotton Mills Fail To Return; No Further Rioting

Over 2,000 workers, including about 1,000 strikers, returned to work at the British Cigarette Company's factories in Pootung yesterday, and indications are that the remainder will be back at work in a few days.

The employes of the Japan-China Cotton Mills in Pootung, who began the strike fever by striking over three weeks ago, are still on strike, however, despite numerous efforts at arbitration.

Demonstrations by workers continue, but there has been no further rioting such as resulted in the destruction of several houses, the wounding of four workers and the arrest of three strikers over the last week-end.

At a meeting held in the Shanghai Seamen's Union headquarters yesterday various labor societies passed a resolution calling upon the managers of the B.A.T. and the Japan-China Cotton Mills to do their utmost toward bringing the strike to a settlement. They also passed a resolution to be forwarded to General Ho Feng-lin, the Military Governor, requesting the authorities to re-open the Pootung Weavers' Union headquarters, the closing of which caused the original strike.

GETS JUDGMENT FOR TLS. 8,000 IN U. S. COURT

Tientsin Man Awarded Damages In Suit Over Walnut Contract

Mr. W. A. Rumpf of Tientsin was awarded Tls. 8,002.90 and costs against W. E. Maloney and Company by Judge Charles S. Lobingier in a decision handed down in the United States Court for China yesterday. The case was heard by Judge Lobingier during the recent term of the court in Tientsin.

Mr. Rumpf sued W. E. Maloney and Company to recover a balance amounting to the judgment and G.$20,000 damages for an alleged failure to perform a contract for the purchase of walnuts.

Judge Lobingier's decision is as follows:

1. Sales: Delivery where no time is fixed may be delayed for unavoidable obstacles.

2 ID.: id.: Damages. Where a vendor enters into several contracts, some fixing the time of delivery and others not, evidence of losses by the vendee for failure to deliver within a certain time is insufficient without showing to which contracts the losses are chargeable.

Plaintiff sues to recover a balance of Tls. 8002.90 alleged to be due on advances made by him to defendant on contracts for the purchase of walnuts and a further sum of "20,000.00 more or less" U.S. currency by way of damages for the non-performance of said contracts. In his answer defendant avers that the alleged balance "is an error" but in his brief he admits liability for Tls. 5953.93. He denies the averment of damages, and alleges "that any failure of delivery was due to no fault of defendant."

The evidence consists largely of correspondence between the parties which is quite voluminous, extending over a considerable period. The usual course of dealing seems to have been for the parties to arrange terms verbally after which each wrote to the other "confirming" the agreement, each letter constituting in effect both an offer and an acceptance. To finance the enterprise, it was customary for plaintiff to furnish defendant with certain sums to be applied on the purchase of specific quantities of walnuts (See Ex. B-Z) though sometimes (E. g. Ex. B-P) defendant sought advances from plaintiff to cover consignments already purchased. The transactions were treated as contracts but not in all instances was the time of delivery specified. Thus in one contract for 800 bags (Ex. Q., 21) and another for 100 cases (Ex. A. G.) such time was left undetermined. As plaintiff, in his brief claims a deficit of only 1161 bags and 2864 cases it is clear that defendant's failure to deliver by Dec. 31, 1921 could not be charged as against more than 361 bags and 1864 cases. Whether these are the items for which plaintiff claims to have paid other parties, does not appear; they might have been paid for those which defendant was not obliged to deliver by the time plaintiff's consignees desired them. The same observation applies to the loss from settling exchange. Assuming that this would be a proper item of damages if proved, we are unable to determine from this record whether such loss occurred in connection with contracts in which the time of delivery was fixed or with the other contracts or with both. In the latter event there would seem to be no way of apportioning the damage. In fact the entire evidence as to the alleged damage is meager and unsatisfactory. Plaintiff's agent testifies to have given notes to satisfy claims for damages but we find no competent evidence from which we may determine whether these claims were well founded nor whether it was legally necessary to give the notes. At any rate they had not been paid at the time of the trial. Letters from the home office are, of course, mere hearsay and would not support a judgment for damages.

Moreover there is some evidence of waiver and even of obstacles which would excuse delay where the time was not fixed. Plaintiff was allowed to introduce a letter (Ex. 'A 1) addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. Maloney" in which, through his attorney in fact, he said:

"It certainly is very important that we should have some conversation with regard to business.

By putting things off will only go to brand me and the firm as dishonest people as well as unreliable.

If you are afraid that you cannot make or purchase goods so that I from my side cannot ship, for God's sake, speak out and I will accept every cent's loss, even your part."

Apparently in response to this defendant did "speak out" for it seems to have been after the above that defendant wrote plaintiff on Nov. 18, 1921:

"The present Chinese banking crises, together with other causes in failure of contracts to be fulfilled within time limit has brought on a very serious state of affairs with us and it will be necessary for the writer to have a conference with you immediately.

The closure of or rather the suspension of payment of the Chinese banks has left us high and dry with the exception of the cargo we have in hand, amounting to about ten thousand dollars in all and unless we can come to some arrangement, we will be absolutely held up till the native banks begin to pay again." (Ex. AM.)

On Nov. 24 defendant wrote plaintiff:

"Much to our regret we are obliged to inform you that in consequence of failure on the part of the Chinese dealers in fulfilling their contracts with us, it will not be possible to complete the shipments in the time anticipated, and we would therefore request you to make an extention of one month on the original time in respect of the shipments concerned.

We are doing everything possible to bring pressure to bear on the delinquent parties and hope thereby to secure satisfactory delivery of cargo henceforth.

Our Mr. Maloney who is at present indisposed through illness, has already taken the matter up with the Chinese merchants and Consular authorities, and will communicate with you at greater length immediately he recovers sufficiently to resume business activities.

Trusting you will fully appreciate the conditions and circumstances which have brought about this unavoidable delay." etc (Ex. AR.) These letters were all introduced by plaintiff and on the whole we are of the opinion that an award of damages on this evidence would not be upheld by the appellate court.

As to the claim for advances, however, we think the preponderance is with plaintiff. He presents a statement of advances (Ex. CQ.) showing a balance due him of Tls. 8,002.90 which he testifies is correct and which he states defendant "admitted owing." Defendant in testifying did not deny having made such admission. He says that the amount is not correct and thinks that it is approximately Tls. 7,247.81, about Tls. 750.00 less but in view of the detailed statement, which defendant makes no attempt to correct, and the undisputed evidence of admission we consider plaintiff's showing sufficient.

It is accordingly considered and adjudged that plaintiff have and recover from defendant the sum of Tls. 8,002.90 together with costs.

By the Court,
CHARLES S. LOBINGIER
Judge.

Dr. EDDY COMING TODAY; MEETING PLANNED FOR HIM

Will Address Chambers Of Commerce, Y.M.C.A. And College Students

Dr. G. Sherwood Eddy, secretary of the International Committee, Y.M.C.A., and party will arrive at noon today from three days spent in Hangchow. His first meeting will be at 5 p.m. at the British Chamber of Commerce as the guest of the Cotton Mill Owners' Association and the Employers' Federation.

The position and point of view of employers of labor in Shanghai will afterwards be briefly stated by representatives of the larger interests in this port, following which the meeting will be thrown open to discussion.

In the evening Dr. Eddy and party will be guests of honor at dinner to be given by the National and local Y.M.C.A.'s at the Yih Ping Shang Hotel.

In the party in addition to Dr Eddy are Mrs. Eddy, Dr. Stanley Jones and Dr. Brewer Eddy.

Dr. Eddy will be one of the speakers at the tiffin to be given next Tuesday at the Carlton Cafe at 12:30 o'clock by the American Chamber of Commerce and the American University Club. Mr. Eddy's address will follow that of Mr. Frank G. Noyes, president of the Associated Press of Washington, D. C., who is also on a trip through China. E. M. Sutliff and F. N. Shea, Vice-Presidents of the American Trading Company of New York, were also scheduled to address the meeting, but owing to their departure yesterday for Hankow probably will not return in time for the tiffin.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and University Club are permitted to bring guests, but because of the large attendance that is expected, it is necessary that reservations be forwarded as early as possible to Mr. D. J. Lewis, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, No. 3 Canton Road.

"The Need for World Leadership" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Dr. G. Sherwood Eddy on Sunday at 5 o'clock at the Chinese Y.M.C.A., 120 Szechuen Road. A special invitation has been extended to American and European returned students to attend the meeting which will be conducted in English.

H'KONG TO SEND RUGBY TEAM HERE

Interport Contest May Be Staged At China New Year Time

PLAY TOMORROW

Two Matches At S.R.C. Ground: One At 2.30, Other At 3.40

Special To The China Press

Hongkong, November 23.—A rugby football team from Hongkong will visit Shanghai at China New Year time, it was practically decided today.

There is much interest in the proposed trip North and it is believed that an excellent team will be able to make the journey.

The visit of the Shanghai cricketers and tennis players has done much to create interest in interport rugby.

The invitation from Shanghai was received some time ago but it was believed that there would be difficulty in arranging for a strong fifteen to leave Hongkong.

It is now believed that the Hongkong men can arrange to get leave from the various firms and the services. It is expected that an official reply to the Shanghai invitation will be sent in a few days.

Members of the Shanghai Cricket team returning last week from Hongkong said that the Colony rugby team was practically certain to visit Shanghai at China New Year. Invitations were sent to Hankow and Tientsin but it was expected that Shanghai might make the trip to Hankow. No arrangements will be made by the local Club until an official reply is received from the Hongkong Rugby Club in response to the Shanghai invitation.

TWO GAMES HERE

In the meantime the local men are getting in shape and two games are set for tomorrow; at the Shanghai Rugby Football Club ground, one at 2:30 o'clock and the other at 3:40 o'clock.

By Westa

HARRY Kingman, who last Summer gave Shanghai baseball fans the finest exhibition of first base play ever seen here, said yesterday that he was looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the forthcoming visit of the major leaguers who are now in Japan and who are scheduled to reach this city next month.

Harry was for two years a member of the New York Americans, and so is sure to find some congenial spirits among the members of the mission that is now touring the Orient. He also expressed a willingness to take part in an exhibition game with the leaguers if one is arranged, or if a game did not materialise, to help entertain the boys at a smoker.

And remembering how he convulsed the gang at the annual baseball dinner at the American club some weeks ago with his "nose full of nickels" story and others it is a foregone conclusion that the visitors will return to the States with Shanghai and Harry Kingman sticking out in their memories as the pleasantest episodes of their trip.

* * *

HARRY told a new one yesterday about Babe Ruth and his home run clouts. It seems that a year ago, when the Sultan of Swat was knocking down fences all over the American league circuit the opposing pitchers, into all of whom he had instilled a terror of his hefty bludgeon, sought to circumvent him whenever possible by giving him free transportation to first base. Thus in game after game it was either a home run or an Annie Oakley every time the Bambino stepped to the plate.

This thing of walking the Babe finally got on the nerves of the customers all over the circuit. The fans were drawn to the park whenever the Yanks were in town principally by their eagerness to see Ruth knock the ball out of the lot, and felt themselves cheated whenever the opposition pitchers took the only means left to prevent their enjoyment of that spectacle.

Well, one day after a game in New York, Harry said, some particularly rabid fans were sitting in the lobby of the hotel where the visiting team was quartered, all talking baseball. They had not been to the ball park that day but one of them had heard that the visiting pitcher, a recruit, had purposely walked the Babe when he had two strikes on him, and no balls. This was exasperating information, and they had just about decided to write Judge

Rifle Competition On For Sunday

The international rifle contest under the auspices of the Shanghai Rifle Association will be held on Sunday. The order of firing and target places will be drawn for today at the rifle range at the monthly cup competition.

Prizes won in the competition will be distributed on the following Sunday at five p.m.

Many Good Soccer Games Scheduled For Tomorrow; Recs To Play St. Xavier's

Numerous good games are listed on the soccer schedule for tomorrow, the most important of which, perhaps, will be the contest between the Shanghai Recreation Club and the St. Xavier's eleven, at the former's grounds, the game to start promptly at 3 o'clock. This will be a first league match.

The following have been selected to represent the S.R.C.—A. H. dos Remedios, G. Manley, J. Xavier, C. J. Smith, E. F. Mears, F. C. H. Ollerdessen, G. Johanssen, V. Evans, A. Sofoulis, T. S. D. Wade, C. Sofoulis.

The Recs second string eleven will meet the St. Xavier's seconds on the Widow's Monument grounds at 3 o'clock.

The following have been selected to represent the S.R.C.: G. Borras, F. Witschi, E. J. Cooke, G. Curry, J. Brockett, F. Schlager, F. Hogborne, H. Stacey, A. Roxburgh, G. A. Drairseldt, W. T. Manley. Reserves: F. Kengelbacher, E. Gifford.

Another good game will be the one between the Shanghai Municipal Police and the Shanghai Football club, which will be played on the S.F.C. grounds, commencing at 3 o'clock. The Police will be represented by the following: Cameron, Clissold, Quayle, Munson, McDonald, Spense, Bailey, Robinson, Watson, Forkin and Crowley.

At the same time the S. M. Police second eleven and the Public School seconds will meet on the Police grounds. Following will represent the Police seconds: Issacs, Tabrum, Higgs, Ritchie, Pridmore, Slater, Phillips, McGregor, Bouvier, Ling and Jarmain.

And players who are unable to turn out for this match are requested to notify Mr. J. B. Clissold, Hon Secretary.

A league match will be played between the Public School and the Marine Engineers' Football Club on the Polo ground. The following will represent the Marine Engineers' Football Club:

A. T. Hebron, Oliveros, G. Norris, R. Tomlinson, G. T. Crawford, C. Knight, A. Clark, M. D. Marshall, J. Falconer, A. S. Russell, T. W. R. Wilson. Reserves: A. L. Biggs (back), Hughes (half back) and A. Lang (forward).

At Hongkew Park the Thomas Hanbury school eleven will meet a team from H. M. Navy, the game starting at 3 o'clock. The following will represent the Thomas Hanbury School: Wilson, Corbin, Brown, Sofoulis, Mr. Huckstep, Howe, Maitland, Waller, Park, Olausen and Schwartz. Reserves: Harvey, Cox, Symons.

This afternoon, at three o'clock, The Shanghai College Football team will meet the eleven of the University on the latter ground for the East China Intercollegiate football championship series. The Shanghai team is expected to win from Nanking handily, as it had beaten The Hangchow Christian College by five to nil, and the Nanking Hangchow game was a 2-2 tie in a game played at Nanking last Monday.

St. John's will play Soochow tomorrow afternoon at Soochow and should win the game in an easy manner. On Saturday a week, November 2, St. John's will play its oldest and bitterest rival in the game, The Nanyang College. The game should be a treat to local football fans, and a record crowd is anticipated. The game is one of the most important of the football season.

Last year, the Intercollegiate football title was shared simultaneously by three colleges, Shanghai, St. John's and Nanyang, owing to the fact that they could not play off the tie, because of the closing up of the fall term. But this year, there will be one champion team. So far as dope goes, Nanyang College will be honored with the title.

BIG RACE ON AT KIANGWAN; BEST PONIES IN

Maresfield And Social Union Favorites To Win Challenge Cup

The last race card at Kiangwan before the New Year's meeting will be run tomorrow afternoon with the Kiangwan Challenge Cup the premier event on the program.

Maresfield, winner of the Shanghai Champions, with Mr. Heard up, and Social Union, the classy Kiangwan pony with Mr. Crokam riding, are the favorites for the big event although a splendid list of ponies are expected to face the starter including Skyscraper (Vida), Old Bill (Springfield), Shenkoland (Dallas), Ajax (Moller), Bright Folly (Johnstone), Association (Haimovitch), The Knut (Moon), Nationalist (Hill), Hakone (Tomono), Southdown (J. Liu) and possibly two or three others.

The usual auto service from the Central Garage will be run between the city and the track, and special trains will be run on the railroad.

Mr. Crewe-Read Is Honored By Sportsmen

Captain E. I. M. Barrett was host yesterday evening to two score Shanghai sportsmen who gathered to wish bon voyage to Mr. O. Crewe-Read who is leaving shortly to take charge of the Commercial Pacific Cable station at Guam.

Captain Barrett in a short and graceful speech recounted Mr. Crewe-Read's achievements in Shanghai and stated that he was voicing unanimous sentiments not only in wishing God-speed to the departing guest of honor, but that by his departure a great loss would be experienced by Shanghai. Others who spoke were Messrs. J. Prentice, C. M. Bain, R. G. Macdonald, L. Midwood, E. O. Cumming and C. T. Beath.

Mr. Crewe-Read spoke of his great sorrow at leaving his many friends in Shanghai and said that he sincerely hoped Mr. Prentice could be pursuaded to run one of his new ships on a trial trip to Guam since he would be waiting to receive the assembled crowd with open arms.

Incidental music during the dinner was furnished by Messrs. B. and L. Heyes on the violin and 'cello respectively and Mr. Z. Garvey at the piano.

The selections which were greeted with the most applause were Schubert's Moment Musical, I Love You Truly and Just a Wearyin for You by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

The dinner concluded with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save The King. Captain Barrett's guests were:

Messrs:— E. F. Bateman, R. G. Macdonald, C. T. Beath, C. M. Bain, J. Dewar, H. B. Woodford, C. Brook, H. H. Fowler, T. E. Trueman, W. Gater, J. C. Mac Dougall, D. MacDonald, C. W. Porter, A. W. Macphail, E. O. Cumming, R. Wood, A. G. Mossop, E. Payne, D. Graham, P. M. Scott, K. J. McEuen, R. L. Fearon, W. Weston, L. Midwood, A. Gray, W. J. Hawkings, S. J. Dooks, E. B. Clarke, J. Prentice, W. M. Stewart, R. M. J. Martin, E. L. Hunter, W. Beatty and A. H. Gauntlett.

NURSE INJURED THROUGH FALL FROM AMBULANCE

Miss L. N. Williams Severely Hurt In Accident

Miss L. N. Williams of Sydney Australia a member of the nursing staff was severly injured in falling from a municipal ambulance while crossing the Garden Bridge.

Miss Williams answered a call and picked up a patient at the Customs jetty and was returning to the Shanghai General Hospital. She was seated in the rear of the ambulance and when the latter stopped suddenly in a traffic jam The rear door gave way and she was thrown out, landing on her head. She was rushed to the Victoria Nursing Home in an unconscious condition and it was learned that her skull was fractured.

She regained consciousness yesterday and late last evening it was said that she was resting easily and would recover.

CHARGE AGAINST GREEK DISMISSED

Nicholas Teramiotis, a Greek, otherwise known as "Dick Brown," appeared as a defendent yesterday morning at the French Mixed Court in an action brought by three Chinese, King, Lee, and Yung, his former employers on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses as well as threatening them with a drawn revolver.

"Dick Brown" was the former manager at the Continental bar here and it was his custom to draw money from time to time from the petty cash account giving I. O. U. chits for same.

Last Summer he was sent to Chefoo to assist in managing a restaurant catering to the American Navy then in port. He followed the same practise in Chefoo regarding his financial arrangements and took his salary from the cash register. On August 30 his employers demanded a full accounting and stated that Brown owed them certain sums of money which must be paid immediately.

An argument ensued, at which time it was alleged that the defendant drew a gun on his employers and ordered them from his office. Brown however stated that he was still owed some $200 from his employers which he had been unable to collect.

The case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Ladies Take Part In Lively Bidding For Racing Ponies

Many ladies were among the bidders Wednesday at an auction of racing ponies held at the Horse Bazaar when a number of well-known racers changed hands. Among the ponies sold and prices paid were the following:

Arlington, a winner and placed several times on the flat, second in steeplechase last Saturday; entered for the Kiangwan steeplechase and flat races. Bidding went up to Tls. 275, but as the reserve was not reached the pony was withdrawn.

The Peregrine, 1st Rubicon Plate, 2nd Peking Cup, 3rd Eclipse Stakes, in Spring Meeting, 1922. Price paid Tls. 380.

Night Raider, late Flensborg, winner and placed in races, also winner and placed in hunts, jumper and heavyweight hunter. Price paid Tls. 300.

Sovereign Dahlia, winner of many races at Hongkong, recently did 64.4 secs. for half mile. Sold for Tls. 120.

The Osprey fetched Tls. 140. Sundown Tls. 75, San Raphael Tls. 55, Tryllo II Tls. 70, Glenliffer Tls. 78.

Silvo, winner of Jockey Cup, sold for Tls. 200.

Landis a letter of protest when some of the visiting players, among them the guilty pitcher, walked into the lobby and sat down.

This was a cue, and so, after a discussion among themselves, a couple of the disgruntled ones decided to ask the pitcher why he had walked Ruth with the count two and nothing.

"Did you see the game today?" the pitcher asked after they had put their query to him.

They replie that they had not.

"Well," the pitcher replied, with a reminiscent shudder, "It's true I had two strikes on him when I walked him. Yeh, two strikes—and both were about six inches foul when they went over the fence."

* * *

HARRY also told a golf story, the bedraggled hero of which was Nap Rucker, the old Brooklyn pitcher. The golf fever, Harry said, took a firm hold one season on all the players of the Brooklyn club—all except Rucker. Every morning Nap would razz his teammates unmercifully when he saw them starting off to the links, and afterwards, when they played the nineteenth hole in his presence, their talk was insufferable.

Finally, however, the bug bit on Nap and stung him, whereat he went down to a Nostrand avenue pawn shop and bought a caddy bag and some sticks, and then took a subway train to the Marine and Field club in South Brooklyn, which is a cramped little course with short holes, like the one in Hongkew Park.

Later he returned to the baseball club house with his golf weapons dangling listlessly from his arm and a houn' dawg expression on his face, whereupon one of his golfing teammates, winking knowingly at the others, asked him how he had made out.

"Rotten!" said the big pitcher. "I made the first hole in 14 strokes and the second hole in 16, but after that I blew up."

Chinese Accused Of Forming Company To Transport Opium

The organisation of a company for the purpose of transporting opium to Pinghu was charged against a Chinese who appeared in the Mixed Court before Assessor Allman and Magistrate Yui yesterday. Detective Inspector Cruickshank stated to the court that the accused was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant issued at the instance of the local Military Governor. He was not a resident of the Settlement. Mr. L. K. Kentwell, appearing for the defendant, stated that he had not had opportunity to look into the matter and asked an adjournment. The case was remanded one week.

HARRIERS CLUB TRAINING RUN ON TOMORROW

Fast And Slow Packs To Work Out In Kiangwan District

Tomorrow, starting at 3 p.m. the Shanghai Harriers will have a training run of about three miles in the Kiangwan country. The run will be of the slow order, there will be no racing. Athletes interested are invited to turn out. The start will be from the American School, No. 147 North Szechuen Road Extension.

The arranging of the fast and slow packs will take place shortly. Messrs. Rose, Mears, Reneman, Wilson, Lewis Lawrence and others are qualified for the fast squad, while some smart juniors have joined up this season and are being coached along by the fast men together with a few of the Club's veterans.

Dr. Chatley Heads The Quest Society

At the close of Dr. Chatley's lecture on Tuesday evening a brief business meeting of the Quest Society was held, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Dr. Herbert Chatley, President. Mr. A. J. Hughes, Vice-president. Mr. S. Sudka, hon-secretary, and Mr. S. W. Wallo, honorary treasurer and librarian.

The next meeting of the Society will take place on or about the third Monday in December, when "Relativity" will be the subject for discussion. It is expected that Professor Einstein will be present on that occasion. In January Mr. G. B. Fryer will open a debate on "The Industrial Revolution in China."

Unemployeds' Delegation Finds Visit To Labor Head Abortive

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 23.—The elaborate police precautions in anticipation of trouble by the unemployed in attempting to disregard the prohibition against the procession to Whitehall proved unnecessary.

The police strategically separated the procession which formed up from the deputation which interviewed the Minister of Labor. The demonstrators, whose ill-clothed and ill-fed appearance evoked much sympathy and who numbered 10,000, were diverted to Hyde Park.

The deputation subsequently reported that their interview with the Minister of Labor had proved abortive owing to the absence of the Premier.

They reiterated their intention of seeing him; meanwhile, they advised the demonstrators to disperse in an orderly manner.

PROF. EINSTEIN IS PUZZLED AT INTEREST SHOWN

Cannot See Why So Many Want To Hear Him In Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, Nov. 17.—Professor Einstein, who arrived here this afternoon, will stay at Kyoto tonight, and leave for Tokio by tomorrow morning's express. Professor Einstein told the newspaper men, a large number of whom greeted him on his steamer, that he was impressed by the wonderful courtesy of the Japanese, and by the beauty of the scenery that he had so far seen.

He thought Germany had much to learn from Japan. He had known Japan only through Lafcadio Hearn and what he had seen so far was quite up to his expectations, he said.

The distinguished scientist said that his present visit is to see the sights of the country and become acquainted with Japanese art and music, particularly the latter, as he is especially interested in music.

He said it was a puzzle to him why so many people in Japan, outside of scientific circles, are so interested in his theory. He is glad to come to Japan as he feels he is thereby promoting human brotherhood through the medium of science, as he is an ardent peace-lover, and was so throughout the war.

After a month in Japan, he expects to return to Germany via China, the Dutch East Indies, and Palestine, in which latter he is especially interested. In Tokio he expects to spend a week with scientists, including the Imperial University professors. He spoke in German to the reporters, Mrs. Einstein translating into English.

COLUMBIA CLUB BARN DANCE IS SATURDAY NIGHT

The old fashioned barn dance and country husking bee which is to be held at the Columbia Country Club Saturday evening promises to be one of the most novel of the special dances given at the club during the winter season. Some 200 reservations have been made.

The club ball room has been transformed into a typical barn of the Middle West and efforts are being made to make the dance as much like the old fashioned barn dances which are held following the harvesting of the crops in American rural sections.

There will be many novel features which include a shooting match for a big turkey. A delicious supper will be served.

All the farmer lads and pretty farmerettes will be costumed—the ladies in calico dresses and the men in jeans or seersuckers. And according to the invitations "those who come in more pretentious garb will be considered as snobs and be treated accordingly."

Community Chorus To Give Two Concerts

Shanghai music lovers will be pleased to know that a special attraction is in store for them at the Town Hall at 4:30 p.m. on December 20 and at 8 p.m. on December 21, when the Shanghai Community Chorus will again give two concerts.

In past years the Shanghai Community Chorus concerts have been greatly appreciated by packed houses. This year's program promises to excel those of previous years, the selections being better and the quality and number of voices surpassing those of last year.

Already more than 276 voices (all Chinese) have been selected from the best available talent in local mission colleges and schools and other musical organisations, including McTyeire High School, St. John's University, St. Mary's Hall, Shanghai College, Mary Farnham High School, Grace High School for Boys, Grace High School for Girls, Lowrie Institute, Bridgman Girls' School, Eliza Yates Girls' School, Cantonese Baptist Church Choir, Allen Church Choir, Shanghai North Baptist Church Choir and the Shanghai Songsters. These have been in active training for the past five weeks.

Accompanied by the Municipal Orchestra, the chorus this year will be under the batons of Mr. L. C. Perry, Director, and Prof. E. J. Andersen, Assistant Director.

Further announcements will appear in the daily press regarding the program to be given and tickets.

This year's officers are Mr. G. A. Fitch, Hon. chairman; Mr. L. C. Perry, director; Mr. E. J. Andersen, assistant director; Mr. V. D. T. Tsu, chairman; Mr. P. T. Chen, vice-chairman; Mr. Z. H. Tong, secretary; Mr. Pan Ening, librarian; Mr. S. Y. Chao, business manager; Mrs. J. B. Hipps, Mrs. C. H. Wang, Mr. L. C. Perry and Mr. E. J. Andersen, music committee; and Messrs. W. H. Chen and T. B. Chang, publicity committe. Among the patrons are Dr. C. T. Wang, Director-General for the Rehabilitation of Shantung Rights; Mr. C. C. Nich, former Chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce; Mr. S. K. Tsao, former general secretary of the Chinese Y.M.C.A.; Mr. K. S. Lee, Mr. K. F. Chang, Mr. S. C. Chu, Dr. T. H. Lee, president of Fuhtan University; Miss Ze Voongpau, Mrs. T. T. Wang and Mrs. S. M. Woo.

French Artist Attempts Suicide

Miss Rene Reno, an artist, endeavored to commit suicide Monday afternoon at the boarding house, 22 Route Pere Robert, where she resided.

She inflicted a minor bullet wound in her left shoulder and is at present resting quietly in St. Mary's Hospital out of danger.

According to Mrs. E. Poggioli, who is the owner of the boarding house, Mlle. Reno had been suffering from attacks of melancholia for some time, so much so that her frequent tales of despair had preyed on Mrs. Poggioli's nerves and she had informed her lodger that she must move.

Finance Minister Out Of Jail; Sees President

(Reuters News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 22.—Mr. Lo Wen-kan, Minister of Finance, who had declared that he would never leave his prison cell pending the settlement of the case, left the prison this afternoon after frequent visits were made to him by the messenger of the President. He is said to have expressed something in the nature of an apology.

Mr. Lo accompanied by Sun Pao-chi, Wang Ta-hsueh, Yin Chang, Huang Kai-wen, and others who had been despatched by the President to meet him, entered the Presidential Office, where he was received in audience by the President.

It is reported that Mr. Lo will reside within the premises of the Presidential Office for the present, awaiting the solution of the case.

RETURN THE CHARGES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 22.—The members of the Cabinet held an informal conference yesterday evening, at which they decided that since the charge against Mr. Lo Wen-kan by the House of Representatives does not constitute a legal impeachment it ought to be returned to the House. (The Constitution provides that a resolution of both Houses is necessary for the impeachment of a Cabinet Minister.)

The Chief Secretary of the Cabinet, therefore, today requested the President to sanction the return of the document in question to the House of Representatives.

A further outcome of the conference was that the Cabinet last night telegraphed to the Provinces stating that they regretted the President's failure to issue certain mandates submitted to him by the Cabinet, also that they regretted the irregular conduct of certain members of the House of Representatives in exerting undue pressure on the President in connection with Mr. Lo Wen-kan's case. They had therefore decided to resign en bloc but not until the accusation against Mr. Lo was disposed of.

It is reported that General Wu Pei-fu has telegraphed to the police authorities, remarking that they should not have arrested Mr. Lo Wen-kan if they knew that their authority was legally insufficient.

Mr. Lo, meanwhile, remains in the custody of the Procurator-General, who is awaiting the outcome of the Finance Minister's demand that the Speaker and Vice-Speaker of the House of Representatives should be summoned to give evidence against him.

THE FRAWLEYS GUESTS AT TIFFIN OF ROTARY CLUB

Miss Adele Blood and members of the Blood-Frawley Company were guests of the Shanghai Rotary Club at a tiffin held yesterday in the Carlton Cafe and attended by some 150 people. President H. B. Lane introduced the favorites of the company who have been delighting Shanghai audiences, all of them responding with a few words.

Rotarian George Baldwin, of Sacramento, who joined the company here yesterday as music director, delighted the gathering with several songs and a sprightly monologue which made a big hit, while Miss Doris Kemper, who is of Rotary mascot of a North Dakota Rotary organisation entertained with a Norwegian dialect story which drew rounds of applause. Miss Kemper's father is past president

Here is a picture for! You have never seen such a story as this adaptation. It towers over anything of its kind; it is the humanity, the reality, the crashing smashing drama of eternal romance, vivified to the highest degree.

There are three tense pitches of climax which gives this picture its rugged strength..... the ultimate climax reveals a huge colorful forest fire, the like of which has never been seen before.

WHAT MAKES THE PICTURE?

It is excellently directed—the story is simplicity itself—the backgrounds are vital and vivid, and finally the acting is excellent.

Chinese Journalists Given Demonstration Of Methods Used In Local Sanitarium

Local Chinese journalists were entertained at tea at Shepherd's Cafe yesterday and shown the various departments of the town office of the Shanghai Sanitarium at 34 Nanking Road by Dr. Charles C. Landis, medical superintendent of the local sanitarium and Dr. H. W. Miller, superintendent of the Washington Sanitarium and secretary of the sanitarium movement in the United States.

After tea, Dr. Landis gave a brief summary of the movement throughout the world, saying that it began 14 years ago and has now 77 sanitariums in the world, of which 30 are located in the United States. The system believes that health is a natural condition and that sickness are the results of laws of hygiene transgressed, the speaker asserted. The more the forces of nature are used in regaining the health and restoring vigor to the body, the better and more lasting will be the results.

Originators of this system have amalgamated the best of the natural methods for treating diseases. Hydrotherapy as used in Italy, Germany and Austria is studied. Electrotherapy as pioneered by the French and massage as developed in Sweden are introduced. As fast as natural methods of treating disease were developed, they are incorperated in the operation of the sanitarium and made part of the equipment.

After announcing the plan of the movement to establish an up-to-date sanitarium on Rubicon Road, Dr. Landis concluded by appealing to the journalists for their co-operation in the coming campaign that is to be conducted in connection with the erection of the buildings for the institution. Mr. Francis Zia acted as Dr. Landis' interpreter.

Mr. Jabin Hsu, on behalf of the guests, described briefly his impression of the Battle Creek Sanitarium while a student at the University of Michigan and assured his hosts the sympathetic support of the Chinese press in the coming campaign.

The guests were then conducted through the offices of the sanitarium on Nanking Road. Demonstrations of the X-ray, electricity bath, phototherapy, hydrotherapy, artificial sunlight, auto-condensation, mechanical therapy were given.

The Shanghai Sanitarium is the first of its kind in the Orient, having been founded here five years ago under the direction of Dr. Landis. It is being supported by the sanitarium movement in the United States, furnishing men as well as money.

The late Dr. Wu Ting-fang, while Chinese Minister to America, visited the Washington and Battle Creek Sanitariums. He became very much interested in the great work for humanity the Sanitariums were doing, and highly recommended the "Sanitarium System" to China. While living he was the president of the board of patrons. Already over $100,000.00 has been raised outside of Shanghai for the main institution.

Dr. Miller will give an illustrated lecture on the movement at the Great Eastern Hotel on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Invitations have been sent to prominent Chinese by Messrs. C. F. Hau, Yao Wen-fu, Chu Pao-san, Kan Chiu-nam, F. M. Sah, C. C. Wu, Sung Han-chang, Pan Chen-poo, Chan Si-kai, Tachuan S. Loh, Ah Sing, Yao Ting-woo, Shen Lien-fang, Chan Ping-him and N. Y. Chang.

The board of patrons consists of Mr. Chu Pao-san, Honorary president; Mr. Fu Siao-en, Honorary treasurer and Mr. Chang Nieh-yun, honorary secretary.

Other members of board are Messrs. Sung Han-chang, Yao Wen-fu, Chun Wun-chee, Ching Bing-chang, C. C. Wu, F. M. Sah, On Yang Sing-nam, C. F. Lin, Chow Hsiang-yun, Yung Tsung-ching, C. H. Yoh, Wen Tsung-yao, Hsu Kuan-nan, Pan Ching-poo, V. D. Kao, Lo King-kee, Lee Bah-koh, Lo Jack-sung, Shen Lien-fang, C. S. Chew, Sun Ching-hsi, Lum Yah-chuan and K. P. Chen.

Concert

Mme. Euphalie Hatalera was the soloist at the fourth Chamber Music Concert. Her program proved that she is a singer of distinction, for Moussorgsky is one of the best Russian song composers.

His songs are a series of human documents in which the psychology of the Russian people is faithfully inflected. Four of his songs were rendered, among which 'Hopa' excelled.

Mme. Hatalera gave full credit to the music as she is the possessor of a well trained mezzo soprano of very good quality and sings with much dramatic feeling and expression. She had much success, also, thanks to the beautiful way in which Mr. Paci played the piano part.

The most modern of the instrumental numbers of this program as a sonata for piano and violin from Volkmar Andreae. He is a Swiss composer living at Zurich and as may be expected from composers of our day he is not afraid of keen harmonies and unexpected modulations, but throughout the whole composition there is a stream of melody and musical feeling that show not only musical ability but also real inspiration.

Mr. Paci and Mr. Foa played this virtuoso music with brilliancy.

The evening closed with Dvorak's quartet in F major by Messrs. Foa, Wegman, Gershgorn and Brunelli forming a beautiful conclusion to an artistic evening highly appreciated by a large audience.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their weekly circular on the exchange.

Exchange.—The London price of silver at 32⅝d. and 32 5-16d. ready and forward delivery is 5-16d. lower than last week. Our official rate for T/T on London followed with a drop of ¼d. to 3/1⅝d. Silver advices are not encouraging and exchange business in connection with Imports and Exports continues to be on a small scale. Our Gold dealers have been covering by sales of Gold T/T during the week and their operations have imported a certain amount of strength into rates, the market closed with an easier tendency. Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver, Tls. 37,070,000 a decrease of Tls. 2,368,000.
Chinese and Mexican Dollars, $84,630,000 a decrease of $490,000.
Estimated value Tls. 62,008,000 as against, Tls. 42,198,000 held at this time last year.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 23, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 3-16d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 64½ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 449⅞. The only changes in our official quotations here today were a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 70⅝ and a drop in the Franc rate to 975.

Our market at the opening today was inclined to be steady, a fair amount of business in Sterling being done at 3-2-9-16 for December-January delivery and in Gold Dollars at 72¼ for November delivery, 72⅝ for December and 72½ for forward delivery.

Owing to the improvement in the cross rate banks were good buyers in Sterling and as a result our market eased off during the day, becoming very weak in the afternoon when business in Sterling was done as low as 3s. 2⅛d. for November-December-January delivery and in Gold Dollars at 71½ November, 71⅝ December and 71¾ for forward delivery.

At the close there were sellers of Sterling at 3s. 2⅛d. for November-December delivery and buyers at this rate for January.

In the afternoon banks were quoting 3s. 3d. for Sterling bills, 73½ for Gold Dollar bills and 1010 for Franc bills.

China sold a small amount of silver in London yesterday and India bought. The market there is reported to have closed steady as is also the New York market.

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

BY THE FINANCIAL EDITOR

It has been a dull week in the cotton and cotton yarn markets Yarn prices have fluctuated within very narrow limits. On Wednesday the price of manufactured cotton yarn declined a tael, but yesterday the market rallied half a tael to Tls. 0.75 chiefly as a result of the rise in Chinese cotton.

Stocks in the hands of local mills total some 50,000 bales, mostly of 16 count. Business has been very poor in the yarn market, the daily transactions not amounting to more than 500 bales. In all some 4,000 bales were transacted during the period under review.

The big dealers have been entirely out of the market, and whatever purchasing was done was by merchants from Wusih, Tsingtau, and Weihaiwei. The Nippon Menka has not renewed buying, and it would appear that things are marking time.

Conditions are unchanged from last week, 16 count is rated at Tls. 126 to Tls. 133 and 20 count at Tls. 142 to Tls. 151. The mills are not buying, and hence no support is lent to the market.

Arrivals of Chinese cotton average between 2,000 to 3,000 bales. Big shipments are expected from Hankow soon. The market is steady at Tls. 32 for Tungchow, Tls. 32.50 for Shensi and Tls. 30 per picul for Shanghai cotton.

Sampin has been fluctuating in sympathy with the New York cotton market, but the variations in prices have been very slight. Quotations are yen 212 November, yen 212.60 December, yen 214.10 January and yen 216.10 for February.

CHINA PRODUCE

A fairly better week was the experience in the produce market with a little more inquiry for many products and a large amount of trade put through.

There has been a demand for rapeseed from Japan, and business is recorded at the rate of Tls. 5.20 per picul. The market has closed quiet.

The market for sesamum seeds is firm owing chiefly to arrivals being scarce. The season has just opened and the hope is expressed that supplies will come in more freely. It is presumed that the Honan banditry and the difficulty in transportation are responsible for the poor arrivals of this product on the Shanghai and Hankow markets. The sesamum crop is reported to be very good. There is a small inquiry for these, but the difference between buyer's ideas and the seller's rate makes business rather difficult of achievement. At present there is a difference of two to three percent between the buyer's and seller's rates. The closing quotation is Tls. 6.55 per picul.

The market for beans has been firm on account of a steady tone in the Dairen market. Stocks here are light, and the rate is Tls. 3.60 per picul. A small business has been done at this price.

There is very little of importance to record in other markets. Peas are quiet, and the same remark applies to the market in horsebeans.

A small trade has been put through in peanuts round about Tls. 6.20 per picul. The Tsingtau market has been cabled firm and its effect will naturally be noticeable on the Shanghai market.

Trading in peanut oil is restricted to buying by merchants from Canton and South China. Lots are steadily changing hands for these markets.

There is nothing very exciting in the cake and powder market. In rapeseed cakes business was done this week at the rate of Tls. 2.20 per picul. Some 20,000 packages changed hands.

A small business is also going through in cottonseed cakes powder at Tls. 2.30 per picul. The market in this has remained unchanged during the week.

Swatow and other parts of South China have been buying peanut cakes at Tls. 3.30 per picul, but the transactions have been small.

In beancakes there is a steady demand, and a fair trade is recorded at Tls. 1.60 per piece.

The demand for rice is still sustained, but Japanese holders are not prepared to sell at old rates. Importation of the cereal from Japan has been rendered difficult by reason of the unfavorable exchange with Japan. It is estimated that Japan has exported to Shanghai, Tientsin and Dairen lately no less than 600,000 bags of rice, Saigon, Siam and Rangoon rice comprising the larger portion. The rice crop having been poor in China last

The produce markets in London and New York have remained fairly steady during the week. There has been no great change, but the drop in exchange has served to make possible some business with English buyers. It is expected that a healthier market will be witnessed in the near future. Eggs are steady on the London Produce Exchange, while there is a moderate demand for egg products. All oils are steady.

Importations quotations on the London Exchange for China products are these:

Chinese peanuts, unshelled, selected handpicked, cif London 20-1½ buyers for December and January shipment.

Peas 23/9, December-January shipment.

The New York market for vegetable oils is steady at last week's rates, namely:

China wood Oil, 13 cents gold per pound.

Soya Bean Oil, 9¼ cents gold per pound.

Crude Cotton Oil, 8½ cents gold per pound.

Refined Peanut Oil, 9 cents gold per pound.

Refined Rapseed Oil, 78 cents gold per gallon.

WHEAT AND FLOUR

A slight decline was registered in the flour market this week. This is ascribed in some quarters to a stoppage of buying of American flour by the Tientsin merchants and the Tientsin river being soon frozen, thus closing all traffic.

The market has remained quite dull. The American flour market is maintained at G.$1.45 per sack cif Shanghai, which is equivalent to Tls. 2.03 per sack. Chinese merchants are holding off from making purchases for forward delivery and are only confining themselves to spot purchases.

The rate of American wheat is round G.45 per ton, but no business has been recorded this week The arrivals of Chinese wheat are extremely poor and hardly worth mentioning. One mill is working while two more are functioning only temporarily and in spasma.

Arrivals of wheat from the United States this week amounted to about 1,000 tons and of American flour about 20,000 tons.

Flour arrivals in Shanghai, Hongkong and Tientsin from the United States continue large. It is mentioned in the flour papers of the Pacific Coast ports that in October there were shipped to the Orient from Seattle and Tacoma some 140,000 barrels of flour. Some new business is being worked in flour from the United States to Hongkong, but not of large volume.

The American millers maintain the flour prices have not been increased with American wheat,

The Duty Of The Chinese Parliament

TO those who have followed the vicissitudes that have beset China's Parliament in the past and who sympathised with its members when they were thrown out by Yuan Shih-k'ai, only to be reinstated and thrown out again by Tuan Chi-jui, their present course of action must appear deplorable. Their early sessions were marked, it is true, by the throwing of inkwells and harder missles, inkstones as well, but such tactics were condoned by the thinking public as mere exuberance of spirits, an expression as it were of the intensity with which they were seeking to arrive at something for the good of China. They were honestly seeking to do the work for which they were called and all the untoward circumstances were pardoned by those who saw that under the factional fights and differences of opinion that sometimes resulted in pitched battles, they were trying to frame a Constitution.

That is their work. The framing of a Constitution was the sole business for which the First Parliament was elected. When the Constitution was promulgated and a means of electing another Parliament enacted into the organic law of the land, then the present Parliament automatically would be out of office.

Until that is done, they hold on—and when the recent developments, such as the impeachment of the Minister of Finance, are considered in relation to the fight on the Wang Chung-hui Cabinet as a whole, it would seem that the Parliament has utterly forgotten the very business for which it was elected.

For many long years, the Constitutional Party under Dr. Sun Yat-sen has fought the cause of this Parliament. Dr. Sun's contention that they must remain in office until the Constitution is promulgated was recognised by all who had studied the question, but many questioned whether it would not be better to declare the First Parliament at an end and try a new set of delegates. But the truth probably is that this Parliament must swing back into the line of duty. Some check must be put on its extraneous activities until its own particular work is done.

Correspondence

MR. FU SIAO-EN'S RECORD

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—I beg to state that I have been residing and trading in Shanghai as a merchant for a period of over 60 years, and have been connected in business with Mr. Fu, Siao-en for well-nigh 20 years. Therefore I know him thoroughly as a man. He is most enthusiastic in whatever he does, just and straight forward in all his doings, and hates underhand dealings more than anyone else. He is a gentleman in every sense of the word.

The recent wanton and reckless charges brought against him came as a great surprise to all who know him. I am sure that everybody in the community here, both foreign and Chinese, who has had any dealings with Mr. Fu, will believe that these charges are absolutely false.

As a very old friend of Mr. Fu, and one who knows him best, I am actuated by my conscience to make this declaration so that none may be left in doubt.

Hoping that you will kindly insert this letter in your esteemed columns and thanking you in anticipation. I am, etc.,

CHU PAO-SAN

-:- The Changing East -:-

By Isaac F. Marcosson

THE CART-WHEEL DOLLAR

The circulating medium in China is nothing more nor less than a replica of the cart-wheel dollar that we still have in many parts of the United States. The silver dollar was introduced into China by the Spaniards many decades ago and first became popular in Canton, which was the pioneer port opened to foreign trade. In the 50's the familiar Mexican silver dollar arrived. Though this coin is actually in the minority today, the word "Mexican" is used to indicate silver valuation. When you hear the phrase "one hundred dollars Mex" it indicates a value of $100 Mexican. Ordinarily the Chinese silver dollar is worth fifty cents gold. Throughout China you find many so-called Yuan dollars, which were coined during Yuan Shih-kai's stormy reign as president, and upon which his profile is stamped.

With subsidiary coinage is the usual complication common to all Chinese currency, for you have big and little money. Ten big dimes of the Yuan coinage constitute a dollar, but it takes twelve Dragon dimes to make a dollar. The Dragon coins, therefore, are the little money. Unless you are very careful the shrewd Chinese shopkeeper will invariably give you little money instead of big when making change.

One further detail in Chinese finance remains to be explained. Everywhere you get what is known as the chopped dollar. If you heard this phrase used you would naturally think that the coin was physically mutilated. Not so. Every Chinese money-changer has a chop, which is his seal. This seal is stamped on money to indicate that it has survived scrutiny, and is good. That is why you see so many dollars with purple markings on them. Once the dollar is chopped it will be accepted by the most ignorant coolie, because he knows that it has passed muster.

The moment you poke into China trade you find the hand of the Germans. When I went to meet C. C. Nieh and accompany him out to his big cotton mill I was forced to climb the stairs in the building where his offices are located, because the elevator was out of order. At the head of the first landing I was confronted with a large sign bearing the words, "Hugo Stinnes China Company." It meant that the masterful Hugo had set up shop in the Orient, and was going strong. The great Stinnes trusts are exporting large tonnages of electrical machinery to China, where it is more than likely that they will duplicate their program in Japan. In Nippon they have joined with local factories for a joint enterprise.

One of the biggest developments in Chinese commerce during the past twelve months is the comeback of the Germans. Behind this revival is an interesting psychological reason, which bears directly upon the whole alien commercial opportunity in the Far East. With the exception of the American, no foreigner is so popular with the Chinese generally as the German. I will tell you why. The British, who dominate foreign trade in China, are inclined to be overbearing in their attitude towards the Chinese, but since they make money for the Celestials and have the best alien banking facilities, they are tolerated. The American, on the other hand, takes just the reverse attitude, for he is familiar with the native, and it is well known that if you want to spoil a good Chinese servant you have only to put him in an American household in any of the treaty ports and the deed is done. Moreover, the Americans are impatient with the natives, and haste in the Orient is a cardinal sin. Where the Britisher is too restrained, we are too impulsive.

GERMAN TRADE IN THE EAST

The German owes his success with the Chinese, first of all, to his infinite patience. He also takes the trouble to learn the language. Once he has embarked upon a transaction he labors long and faithfully with his prospect. The Chinese responds gratefully to this treatment, so to speak, and it produces real results. The Germans take a deep interest in the families of the Chinese with whom they do business. They make kindly and reasonable inquiries, and never forget the children's birthdays. Knowing this, you are not surprised to learn that the moment the armistice was signed the Chinese turned to German goods, and the volume of traffic in them has steadily increased.

One of the largest German activities in China is in aniline dyes and indigo, the volume of which exceeds that from all other sources combined. In 1920 Germany sold China dyes to the amount of 2,255,767 haikwan taels, while for the first five months of 1921 this business had already aggregated 1,800,000 taels. Until recently the big German dye firms worked through Dutch houses or Chinese agents. This practice was begun immediately after the war, when the Germans had to camouflage their trade dealings. In China, as elsewhere, many German exporters deal almost exclusively through Chinese firms in which they hold partnerships. It always means goodwill.

In addition to dyestuffs Germany has got her hooks back into what is known in the East as the trash trade—that is, traffic in commodities such as cheap cutlery, buttons, needles and novelties that are cheaply made. When the war broke out, with the cutting off of Germany from the markets of the world, the Japanese got a big slice of this business, which they capitalised to the fullest extent. The shelves of the Far East were bare, and shopkeepers were willing to pay any old price for merchandise. Now that Germany is back in the game she can produce at a much lower overhead cost than Japan, where wages and the general cost of industrial production are excessive. Right here you have one of the many reasons why Japan is in the economic dumps.

The Germans, however, are not taking any chances with the Oriental trade. In China, as in Japan, Australia, South America, South Africa and even India, they are not only underselling every competitor but are disposing of goods at a loss in order to get back on the trade map in a big way. This is why there is so much inflation in all German overseas commerce.

Even the swiftest survey of Chinese industrialisation must include a reference, at least, to two factors inseparably bound up with it. One is natural resources and the other railways.

In coal and iron—the backbone of the modern industrial structure—China is a treasure house. She is the only country on the Pacific save the United States with large resources of coal. The delay in tapping it has been due to lack of communications, for many of the richest bituminous deposits are almost inaccessible. With the cheap labor that prevails in China, experts all agree that coal can be mined at from thirty-five to seventy-five cents a ton.

One reason why Japan has tried by hook or crook to control China is her iron-ore reserve. Japan needs this iron in her business, for she has practically none within her own confines. Until public opinion, together with the Washington conference, blocked her widening scheme of forceful penetration, Japan controlled, in one way or another, three-quarters of the visible iron-ore production of China.

It is not generally know that half of the world's resources of antimony are in China. Tens of thousands of shells exploded over the battlefields of France during the Great War contained Chinese antimony, which is also used in making type metal. Lead, zinc and tin are also found in large quantities. Although China ranks second among the silver-using countries of the world, it does not contain a pound of silver ore.

It would take a book to tell the real story of the Chinese railways—or, rather, lack of railways. With the conventional facts most people are familiar. The country has approximately 7,000 miles of road, when she should have at least ten times that extent. Four of the most important routes are concession lines, which means that they are involved in politics. I have already indicated elsewhere in this series how nationalistic jealousy and rivalry of foreign powers have persistently blocked real railway expansion. Another obstacle is the eternal political unrest, which makes foreign capitalists shy about dumping more money into a maelstrom.

BARRIERS TO DEVELOPMENT

The international banking consortium in which America is represented was really formed to build railroads in China, but so far it has not constructed a mile. Necessity cries out for mileage, but banking caution overrules appropriation. In the present state of transition, with uncertainty lurking round the corner, money for railroads would be little less than philanthropy, and bankers are no philanthropists. China has no resources of her own with which to build roads, for she is chronically in debt. If China ever straightens herself out the consortium's first act will be to construct the three-hundred-mile gap to complete the line between Hankow and Canton, which will provide a service from Peking down to the great southern ports. Canton is already connected by rail with Kowloon, which lies just across a small bay from Hongkong. All the existing lines are so deployed that 20,000 miles additional of track will complete a network that means trunk service. The railroad hope of China, however, lies in achieving a united system under foreign rule and the introduction of economy and honesty in operation.

The real barrier to Chinese railway development is one that is seldom dwelt upon by chroniclers. In China the presidency of a government railroad is usually a political appointment and is therefore the butt of rival factions. Pull, not efficiency, determines the choice. While I was in China a new head was named for the Peking-Hankow Railway. He was a Wu Pei-fu man, which means that the Wu Pei-fu crowd will run it. In April, Wu was unable to get money from Peking to pay his troops, so he calmly seized $3,000,000 of the road receipts. He likewise commandeered all the books. When an American contractor who did business with the road wanted an adjustment of accounts he had to get permission from the military authorities for it. Moreover, the new president started operations by cancelling all the orders for equipment that had been placed by his predecessors. If you know China you also know the motive for this step. The new crowd hadn't got their share of the private overhead on these contracts. This overhead ranges from 5 to 40 percent on every bill of goods bought.

For years Chinese railroad revenue has been drained by the war lords on the one hand or employed by the government to meet pressing obligations on the other. The funds are treated precisely like the income of the salt or customs administrations, which is scurity for many of the foreign loans. Instead of financing railway and other basic undertakings, the money has gone to fill gaps due to graft, extravagance and mismanagement. Were it not for these diversions from their logical course Chinese government railways would be profitable propositions.

The outlook, however, is not so dark as these conditions would indicate. The unification of the country, which now seems a possibility, owing to the collapse of the Sun Yat-sen movement in the south, will probably inspire foreign capital with more confidence in the country. One reason why Chinese commerce has been able to function with such little rail mileage is the vast network of waterways, such as obtains in Central Africa. Not only are millions of tons of cargo moved on the rivers—some of them, like the Yangtse, are navigable for big steamers for a thousand miles from the mouth—but millions of people live on small boats. At Canton alone the river population, which is born, bred and dies in sampans, is over 200,000.

FLOOD CONTROL

With rivers must be linked that other agency, which to a degree even greater than the railway will ultimately work out the industrial salvation of China. I mean flood prevention, which carries with it immunity from the ravages of famine, for floods in China are as destructive as droughts. This is why the great Yellow River is called the River of Calamity. In several centers conservancy projects are well under way. The Chili Conservancy, which operates in the metropolitan province, with headquarters at Tientsin, will illustrate.

For many centuries the Chinese labored in a crude way to prevent floods. They were handicapped by a superstitious fear, shared even by the educated classes, of changing the course of streams lest the dragons in them should be aroused. All life in China is regulated by the Feng Sui, the Spirits of Wind and Water. Graves, for example, are located where they will be under the best influence of these spirits. Men have been known to change their stores and their houses because they felt that the establishments were under some evil spell. The Spirits of Wind and Water must always be propitiated.

The story of the Wutingho River, which often goes on the rampage, will show how the Chinese mind works. This name means "unstable." After a particularly devastating flood the governor of the province decided to change the name to Yungtingho, which means "stable," believing that the stream would then behave itself. The river, however, refused to abide by its new appellation, and continued to overflow its banks with irritating regularity.

Until recently the Chinese engineers widened the rivrs, thus making them vast areas of shallow water. The moment heavy rains came they flooded the whole countryside. The new conservancy idea now in operation makes the rivers wide and deep, thus maintaining a continuous channel.

Under the auspices of the Chili Conservancy Board, Tientsin and the whole adjacent area have been made practically immune from floods. Dikes have been constructed, the bend of the Haiho River reduced, and the channel deepened. Thirty miles away is a new lock canal, which provides another preventive measure. The Chili undertaking is a step toward national conservancy, which, with reforestation, will help to revolutionize the social and economic life of the republic.

A Society Of Telescope Users

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

I OFTEN receive letters inquiring where the writers can have an opportunity to look through an astronomical telescope.

At a few of the large working observatories, as at Yale, Yerkes, Lick and Mount Wilson, arrangements have been made for gratifying, to a limited extent, this growing desire on the part of the public to see some of the wonderful things in the heavens that are familiar to astronomers. But, in general, the telescopes at such places are too actively employed in scientific observations to be left even for a few hours a week at the disposal of sight seers.

There are also a few telescopes, as on Mount Lowe, in California, which are specially devoted to popular observation. These should be more numerous. There ought to be a people's observatory near every great center of population; and in an age and country less absorbed than ours in mere money-making, there would be. How pitifully little-minded appear those who never think of the universe and never longingly and wonderingly lift their eyes to it!

However, there is a way in which those who feel a genuine urge toward astronomical observation can gratify their wish, and at slight expense and with very little preparation, do good and useful work in practical astronomy. Good eyes, critical judgment, but no mathematics are needed. Join the American Association of Variable Star Observers, the newest and one of the most successful astronomical societies in the world.

This is not a money-making enterprise, but a union of enthusiastic workers, whose work is a recreation and a delight, full of surprises and sometimes of marvel, and never tedious, because every worker feels that he is adding to the sum of the world's knowledge, and helping toward the solution of vast, absorbing problems, that mere conception of which is an honor to humanity.

This association was formed under the initiative of William Taylor Olcott, of Norwich, Connecticut, and with the encouragement of the late Professor Edward C. Pickering, director of the Harvard Observatory. During the few years that it has been in existence it has accumulated a unique series of continuous observations on variable stars, which observations are regularly distributed to all the observatories in the world, and form a growing basis for the ultimate determination of one of the great fundamental laws of the universe—that of the evolution of suns and planets.

The special objects of observation are the long-period variable stars (suns), thousands of which certainly exist in all parts of the sky, and whose remarkable changes of light—being at some periods hundreds or thousands of times brighter than at others—are unquestionably caused by processes going on within them of a similar nature to those which produce the periodic spots on our own sun, which, it may be remarked is also a variable star, although the range of variation is not yet sufficiently great to very seriously affect the conditions of life on its dependent planets.

The average length of the cycle of variation of these stars is about a year, but during the course of the periodic changes extraordinary and unpredicted fluctuations and irregularities often occur, which give the zest of constant novelty to the observer's work.

He becomes as eager as a fisherman who has found a new pool of hungry trout, and if he has the good fortune to discover a new variable, his name goes on the astronomical record for all time, in the same column, if not in the same rank, with those of Galileo, Herschel, Burnham, Barnard and other discoverers in the celestial fields. This opportunity may occur to any wide-awake amateur.

The work is done at home, wherever a small telescope can be set up on a tripod out of doors. A covered observatory and a fixed pillar, with clock-work and other refinements are not necessities, and in most cases are not possessed. Moreover, the association undertakes to obtain telescopes for the use of members who have none of their own, and supplies them with charts by which the stars to be observed may be located. All that is required in return is faithful work, and such work, I repeat, is not a task, but a pleasure and an education.

I have written all this because I personally know that there are no ulterior motives behind the association. It has the backing and the admiration of all the astronomical societies and observatory workers both in this country and abroad. Its work is being extended to cover meteors and comets. Mr. Olcott will furnish upon request any additional information desired. It is a good opening into practical astronomy, and it solves the question: "How can I get a chance to look through a telescope?"

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

while some of them are anticipating higher flour quotations. While prices of Pacific flours are undoubtedly too low, in view of the strength of Pacific wheats, some of the American mills are cutting prices below the prevailing quotations.

If the wheat market in the United States declines there should be possibilities of a big trade.

RAW SILK

The raw silk market was lifeless this week. There have been a few transactions put through with the United States, but these were on a small scale and embraced steam filature, re-reeled and tussah filature.

Prices are maintained at last week's level, and the market closed yesterday steady to firm.

As regards Lyons the big fluctuations in exchange have made the buyers in that market feel extremely shy, and they have consequently kept out of things. They are apparently awaiting further developments especially in the cross-rate.

The consuming markets abroad are in need of raw silk from China and they must sooner or later make their purchases. Cabled advices received from Lyons put the market there as weak. The Chinese dealers here are firm in their idea and are not prepared to make any concessions in rates. It is therefore not likely that prices will decline very much. Besides it may be mentioned stocks on the Shanghai market are small.

For lack of support the Japanese silk has declined. The market in Yokohama appears to be unstable, and price cuts are inevitable. Buyers are not operating on the Japanese market at the present moment to any great extent, in fact both America and France are buying very sparingly in that market. The total export of raw silk from Yokohama last month was estimated to amount to 30,922 bales, including 29,974 bales which were shipped to the United States and 948 bales sent to Europe. As compared with the previous month, this shows a decrease by 9,854 bales.

Officials of the now defunct Japanese Imperial Silk Syndicate have come to an agreement with the Japanese Government regarding the disposal of nearly 9 million yen, which represents the profits of the company since 1920. Among the divisions we note a sum of nearly a million year, supplies are getting short in the interior, and foreign rice is in demand. This is particularly the case in the Chekiang province. On the Shanghai market Saigon rice is rated at $8.15 per Chinese koku, and No. 1. Siam at $9.50 per Chinese koku. Stocks of rice available for export in Japan show a shrinkage and amount to at present some 650,000 bags.

and a quarter yen for the erection of a new warehouse for raw silk, which will probably be erected in Yokohama and over half a million yen for the Japanese Association of Sericulturists. It will be remembered that the Imperial Syndicate was reorganised in 1920 after a period of inactivity in order to tide the Japanese silk industry over the severe crisis that year. Investors in the company did not expect to receive more than moderate returns on their money and for a time even a small rate appeared improbable. Subsequently the market went up and the immense holdings of the Syndicate realised hugh profits.

COAL

With the settlement of the coal strike in the Kailan Mines the Shanghai coal market this week had an easier feeling, with prices no longer on the upgrade.

Fresh importation of coal from Kailan is expected in Shanghai within ten days, and as arrivals become more regular the acute shortage that threathened a couple of weeks ago will no longer be feared.

Those Shanghai organisations that have in the past only been accustomed to using Kailan coal, have brought during the past fortnight large quantities of Japanese and Manchurian coal, as it was feared that the coal strike would not be solved for many weeks to come.

Coal stocks locally this week show a reduction over the previous holdings, while arrivals from Japan and Manchuria during the period have been greater than last week.

Stocks of coal in Shanghai at the end of October totalled 137,000 tons, while imports amounted in all to 157,000 tons, of which only 62,000 tons were Kailan. Imports of Kailan coal up to date this month have been nil.

It is estimated that in Chingwantao there are about 160,000 tons of coal, of which 60,000 tons are destined for Japan. With the settlement of the coal strike the activity that was felt on the Dairen wharves for Fushun coal has now died out. Anticipating a prolonged strike merchants in Shanghai, Hongkong and Chefoo opened negotiations with Manchuria for the supply of Fushun coal, and consequently the Dairen merchants were made very busy. That activity will die out after the coal is shipped from that port.
